Sunset Comes to All

Is sunset only an orange sphere falling from the sky?

Is it the start of the end, just before we die?

Is sunset a well of fear, that makes us cry?

Or might it be a beginning, another life tie?

But, no matter what sunset may appear to be,

It comes in its very own way to you and me.

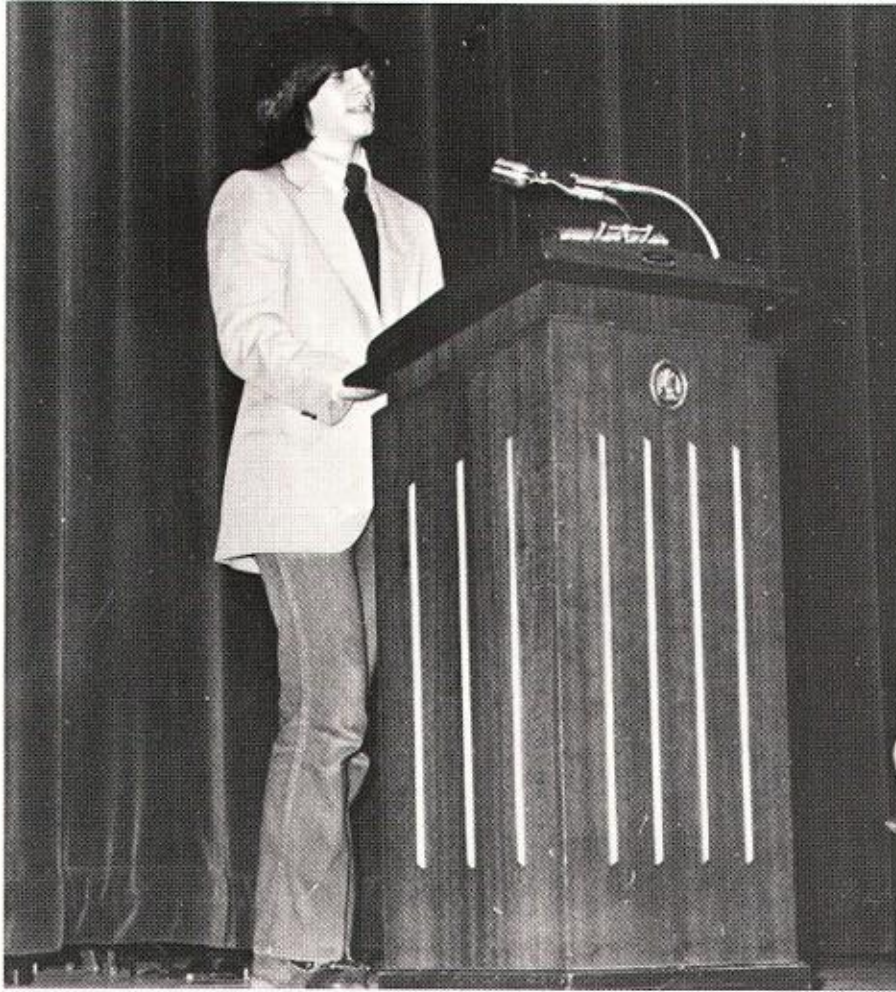

From our own sunset, some of us might try to flee;

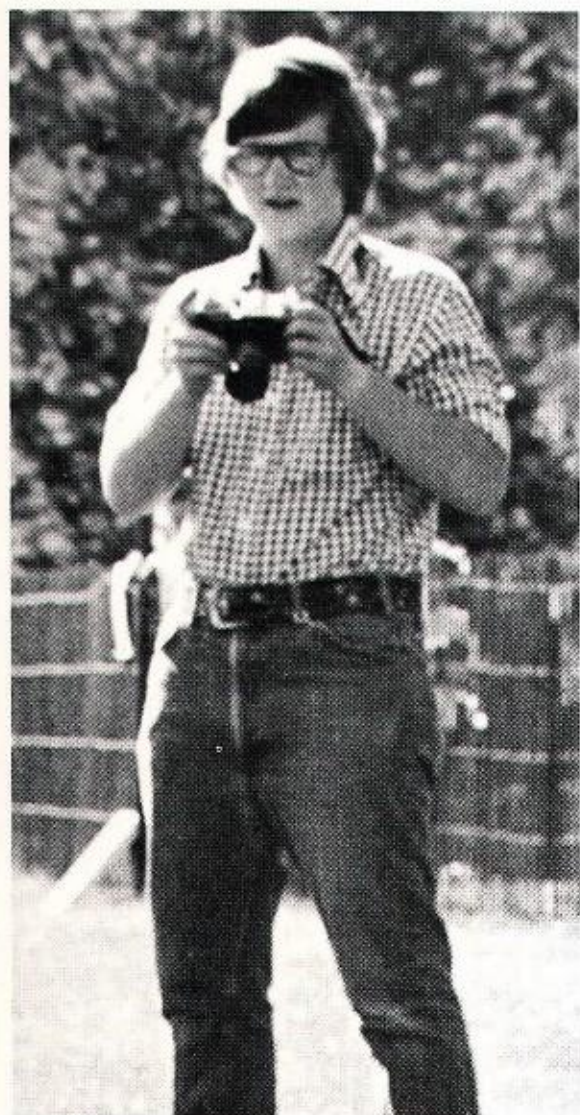

An escape from even one sunset can never be.

And so I say to all, whatever sunset may call,

I am sure that at least one sunset comes to all.

As we seniors peer toward the future, now looming before us, we see the enormity of what we are yet to face. We feel comfort in the knowledge that we will make it, just as we've made it thus far. We look on past problems and joys, and we become filled with pride because we have fought and worked to reach the top of our world. The battle ahead can only carry us further upward. We long to attain the individuality of those on still higher plateaus above us. We need worry but little, for we have the self confidence, the zeal, and the will-power it takes to achieve all the goals we set for ourselves. And so, we shall plunge toward our own end and pray that in doing so we may love and learn and live and that we might have the goodness to pass down to those who have yet to climb to the heights of success the knowledge we gain.

Final Sunset

As our sunset falls within these walls,
Our future beckons to us and calls,
For us to move out and take our place,
In what is called the world's rat race.
We know not what nor when nor where,
Nothing more than we are going out there.
For us this sunset is not the end,
But just a change with which we intend,
To do our best with what we get,
Until at last we reach our final sunset.

SENIORS

In Memoriam Of . . .

. . . Elaine Grove

We, the class of 1974, dedicate this book to that special person who always had a smile—Elaine C. Grove. Elaine won many friends with her bubbling personality and showed enthusiasm in all she did. As graduation approaches, we cannot forget this one special person who meant so much to us. Even though she can't be present with us, the memories of her will last forever.

Seniors Pay Tribute To . . .

Gregory E. Hake (Our Big, Little Man!)

Only 3 feet 1½ inches tall and a friend of all, Gregory E. Hake can be found laughing his way through the dreariest day. Known as a little man with a big heart, Greg is sure to have an appropriate comment for every occasion. For these characteristics, which are often hard to find in a big man, we, Greg's fellow seniors, dedicate this book to Greg, our big, little man.

Greg's friends are always willing to take Greg to his next class.

The Class of 1974

Cindy Aushman, Tollye Grimm, Tana Smith, Sue Gross, Carolyn Bennett, and Bertie Burns enjoying the football game.

Sue Gross and Lindsay Kilgore, Student Council candidates, anxiously await their turn for their speeches.

Are you sure this is where it itches?

Notice how enthusiastic the Lion Staff is during homeroom pictures!

Why don't they put us in the game?

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS: Thomas Gemmill, Vice-president; Cathy Stabley, President; Diane Shaw, Secretary; and Cindy Ausherman, Treasurer.

SENIOR CLASS MOTTO: Yesterday is already gone and tomorrow is yet to come.

SENIOR CLASS COLORS: Black and White.

Last Sunset

Senior's sunset is now past.

Ways of life, we have learned fast.

The time left is quickly fleeting;

Our fate we must soon be meeting.

Until then, as we grow old,

Our wise learnings won't go untold;

We shall teach what we have learned,

Until, on us the tide is turned.

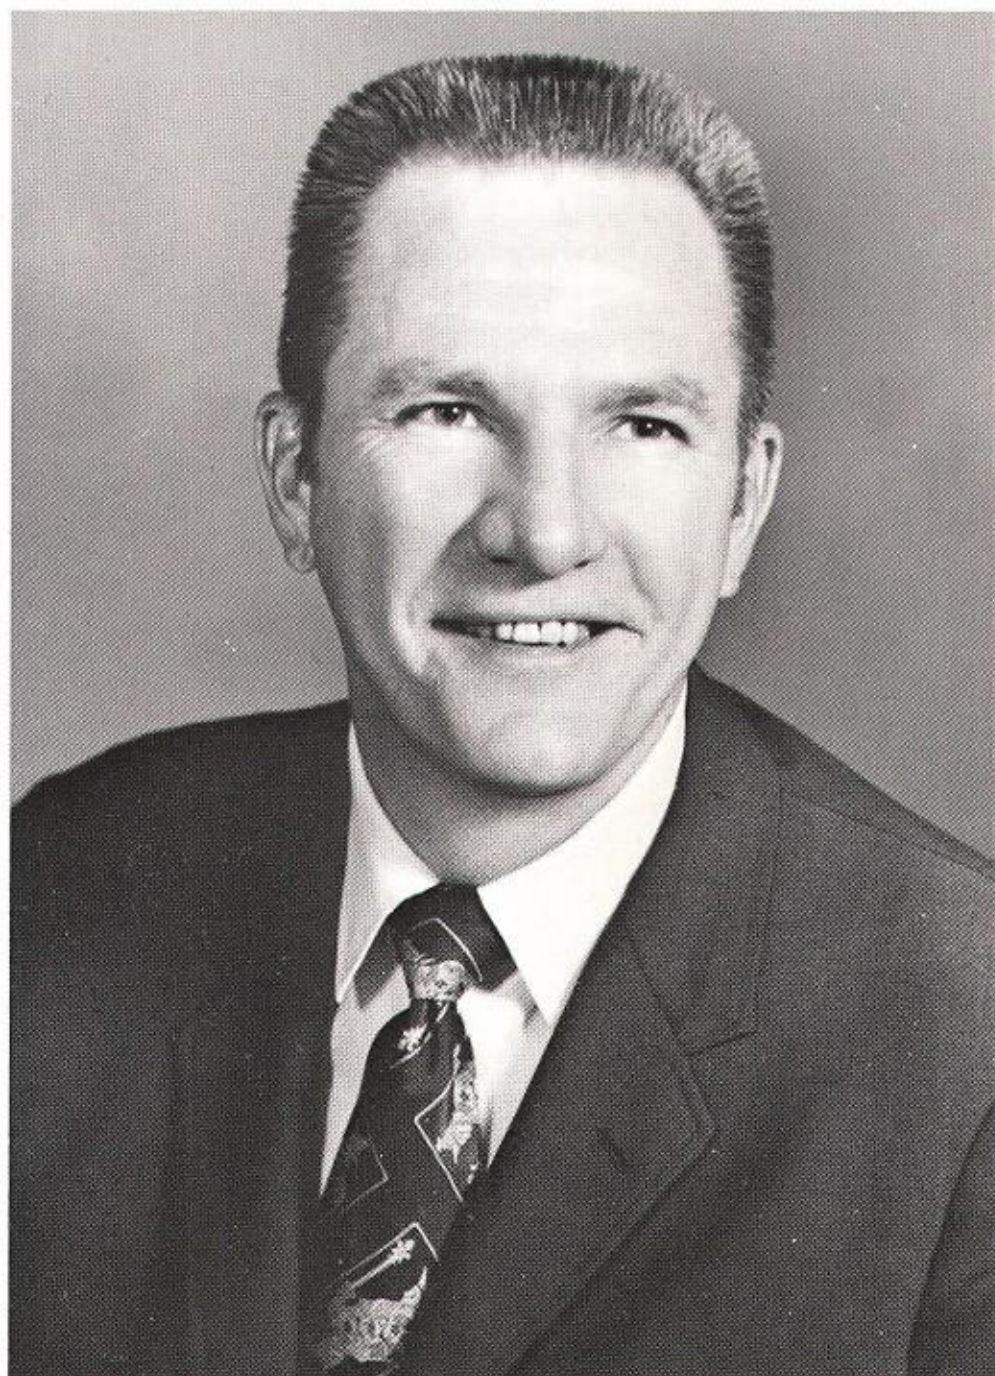

Our duties we may then forget;

We'll move toward our last sunset.

Between Sunsets

Many are the things we do;
To each one's own, he stays true.
And yet, together we stand,
Each one offers a helping hand,
So we can remain the best,
Better than all of the rest.
We fight so that we can win;
No one looks on what might've been,
But what we shall try to get,
Between now and our sunset.

Until Sunset

We have only just begun;

Victories are yet to be won.

We are yet so very young;

Our songs still need to be sung.

The dawn for us is now breaking;

Our potential is now waking.

We have our lives yet to live;

Our thoughts we are sure to give.

On our future we will bet,

Until our senior sunset.

Sunrise, sunset,
Sunrise, sunset,
Swiftly fly the years;
One season following another,
Laden with happiness and tears.
